

Divine Intimacy

by Dr. Robert V. Gerard

We are all God/Goddesses creating each moment continuously. We evolve in an everlasting play titled Divine Intimacy. Humanity, as with all species on this planet, evolves instinctually, though, possesses Divine Intimate attributes which are mostly misunderstood.

Within our DNA, genetically or symbolically, the codes to sustain and propagate vigorously fulfill the order of survival. Consistently, the male fights to mate the female, even if death becomes a reality. Intimacy in copulation, however, is enjoyed only by a few stemma of higher order. Humans thrive to attain intimacy, but falter tremendously because of the barrage of fears and myths surrounding this most precious endeavor.

Intimacy must have interaction. It's the presence of an object totally detached from oneself: the subject. Sustaining the highest imaginable expression of Love, is when the creation of intimacy realized. There exists no imperfection. Rapture and completeness realized by both—subject and object—lover and lover equalized. Total ecstasy and freedom expressed and felt. Divine Intimacy perpetuates itself in bliss. Even descending after moments of intimacy are filled with the space of silence, comfort, and peace. One feels secure in the Nature of his or her Divine State.

Becoming Divinely Intimate requires the absence of identity, though reflects the fulfillment of your uniqueness. Only when you are free to express yourself without hesitation, can you intimately surrender into a state of intimacy that is Divine in Nature.

Man and woman are eternally joined into oneness—each a magnificent complement of the other. A oneness that is inseparable, yet, on the physical plane of existence, can be a millennia apart. This deception, a pure illusion, stirs within each of us, tempting our yearning for identity and Divine Integration.
